Activity: Make a list or draw a picture of all of your toys. On a sheet of paper write the word “Keep” *these are the toys that you play with often* and on another, write the word “Donate” *these are the toys that you’ve outgrown*. Sort your toys into those two piles. Take your donate pile to a local shelter or children’s hospital so that others can share in your abundance.

Discussion Question All around the world, there are children in need of food, clothing, and a roof over their heads. Some children don’t even have clean water to drink. Talk with your Pastor, Sunday School teacher, and family about how you can help other children. There are several organizations that need volunteers and you are never too little to help. Begin by keeping those children in your daily prayers.

8th Sunday After Pentecost

Good morning! I love bubbles, don't you? I'm going to blow these bubbles and keep them all to myself. I even brought my own bag to keep them in. (blow bubbles into the bag, ask another adult to help you hold the bag if needed) They're ALL MINE!! And when I run out of room in this bag, I'm going to fill more bags! AND, I get to keep them ALL!!! I'm rich! In fact, I'm the richest bubble owner in the world!

Would you like to see how many bubbles I own? (open the bag to show the kids without looking in the bag yourself) See, I have so many bubbles you can't even count them, but you can try! (allow for response) What?! The bag is empty? Did YOU steal my bubbles...what happened to them? (allow for responses) All of my precious bubbles are gone...maybe I should have just shared them with you and then we all could have enjoyed them.

In our gospel lesson from Luke this morning we heard Jesus tell the parable of the rich man. There was a rich man who had lots of grain from his farm. So much grain that he couldn't fit it in his barn, so he decided to tear down his barn to build a bigger barn! He didn't even consider sharing his grain, he wanted to keep it all for himself. Kind of like my precious bubble collection. Just when the rich grain keeper stored up all the grain, he died! And guess what? He couldn't take his grain with him. What do you think the rich man should have done instead of building bigger barns? (allow for answers) Yes, he could have shared some of that grain with others who needed it.

God gives us all that we need and more! And, out of gratitude for all that we've been given, we should joyfully share with others. Can you practice that this week?

Let's pray together. Gracious and giving God. You give us all that we need and more. Help us to joyfully share our gifts with others. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.
